

Solmicro's workshop for the new Spanish VAT regulation

Solmicro recently hosted a workshop for 170 customers to illustrate the new VAT regulation's changes and how to face them, together with its new product offering, among which the Zucchetti HR Infinity solution for HR management.

On 5th October 2017, Solmicro, the Spanish ERP-CRM software manufacturer leader, part of Zucchetti Group, celebrated a workshop focused on the "Suministro Inmediato de Información, SII" rule (Immediate Information Supply), the new regulation developed by the Spanish Tax Agency to implant the telematic management of the VAT that will come into effect in the Basque Country and in Navarre from 1st January 2018. The workshop, placed at the Auditorium of the Parque Tecnológico de Bizkaia, was attended by more than 170 customers.

The session focused on informing Solmicro customers about the changes and implications of the SII rule, and providing them with the tools to guarantee the correct adaptation to the new telematic process.

In order to do so, Solmicro created Solmicro-eXpertis SII, the optimal tool for a professional management of the SII tax obligations, that helps companies to face the new regulation. This new solution, already used by Solmicro customers in other Spanish autonomous communities, has been presented during the workshop where also the most frequent questions about the new VAT regulation have been answered (which internal works must be done to adapt our systems to the SII, how to declare in a practice way, etc).

The same doubts can be solved thanks to the free white paper "SII Guide: is your company ready to adapt to the new taxes regulation?" that Solmicro launched in June.

At the end of the workshop, Solmicro presented the new products of the company. The software manufacturer, who has always gone for the innovation, has launched in this session two new solutions which answer the market trends. These solutions are Solmicro BI, Business Intelligence solution, and HR Infinity, the HR management solution leader in the Italian market, developed by Zucchetti Group.
